SARGENT'S CHANGE

His Appointment to St. Petersburg and how it was Brought About

NEW YORK, March 28.—[Special.]—Journals of both parties continue to ventilate Sargent's transfer. The Tribune's Washington special says: Great efforts have been expended to make it appear that Sargent's transfer was effected at his desire. The contrary is the truth. A dispatch received to-day from Berlin by a friend in this city distinctly states that he would have preferred to stay at his post and leaves it to be inferred that he was not consulted as to his transfer to the Russian mission. Friends of the minister here [illegible] assert that if he had been left to choose he would [illegible] have preferred to stay at Berlin [illegible]

SARGENT'S WISHES IGNORED

It is generally believed now notwithstanding [illegible] the state department at the [illegible] to Sargent a few days [illegible] that if he would ask to be transferred to some other post [illegible] department of [illegible] embarrassment [illegible] Sargent either did not reply or answered by refusing to be transferred to any other post.

The matter, it is said, was discussed by the cabinet on Tuesday. A majority seemed to favor taking some decided step which would reflect credit on the administration and be popular at home. It was suggested that the Berlin mission be closed at once and kept so indefinitely. Such a course, it was [illegible] would be uncalled for [illegible] diplomatic usage. [illegible] the course taken yesterday was [illegible] than that of severing diplomatic relations with the German empire.

THE ADMINISTRATION INDORSED

The Tribune editorial heartily indorses the action of the administration in the matter and says: "It [illegible] the right thing in the right way and at the right moment. His appointment was managed so adroitly that it carried with it weight and secured a vote of confidence on the part of the senate. THE RECENT EARTHQUAKE

What New York Papers say of the Disturbance at San Francisco of the 26th

NEW YORK, March 28.—[Special.]—Tribune: The people of San Francisco are naturally [illegible] of earthquakes. First be sure there are no [illegible] [illegible] in nature and second [illegible] [illegible] All the earthquakes that have occurred since California became a state have not caused one thousandth part of the damage involved in the floods of the Ohio and Mississippi. Nay the [illegible] local flood at Roberts island on the Sacramento river has been worse than all the earthquakes. The people have been much more frightened than hurt by the latter and though when a shock comes everybody rushes for the street, it is a fact that not a single life has yet been lost in a building by one of these earthquakes. All who have been killed have been struck in the street by falling debris and the rational inference would seem to be that the wisest course in an earthquake is to stay indoors. Of course the people cannot help fearing that a much heavier shock may occur some day and no one can deny the possibility. But there should be much comfort in the reflection that hitherto the Pacific coast has been very mildly shaken up and the record may well justify the belief that no catastrophe need be apprehended therefrom. Moreover, there are but few tall and massive buildings in San Francisco and wooden houses appear to be almost earthquake proof. On the whole San Francisco ought not to alarm herself overmuch because of these seismic eccentricities nor can other cities [illegible] congratulate themselves at her expense for statistics show that it is safer to live in an earthquake belt than in a flood area.

Five of the Bisbee Murderers Hanged

TOMBSTONE, March 28.—James Howard, O. W. Sample, Dan Dowd, William Delaney and Dan Kelly were hanged in the jail yard at 1:15 to-day for the Bisbee murders. The five bandits marched up the steps to the scaffold without flinching. All declared their innocence and that Heath, who was lynched here February [illegible] was also innocent. They bade good bye to their friends, expressed faith in the Christian religion and requested that their bodies be delivered to Father Gallagher. CONSOLATION UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

The Lasker incident with all its ludicrous features, is not without grave significance. A nation or an individual ought to be willing to refrain from condoling with one in affliction when it is plainly indicated that condolence is not welcome. The quality of sympathy "is not strained." It is not a commodity that can be forced upon an unwilling or reluctant mourner. It cannot be beaten into the bleeding heart. But notwithstanding this ridiculous attempt to enforce condolence upon Germany there is in the reluctance of Bismarck to be sympathized with a significance that should not be overlooked. Mr. Ochiltree made that very clear in his elaborate speech in congress, which was more temperate and statesmanlike than had been expected of him. Liberal opinions are making such unquestionable progress in Europe as to alarm the royal families, of whom the German chancellor is the representative, and they are determined to resist the beginning of this progress. These royal families believe in the "divine right of kings." Even so kind and good a lady as Queen Victoria speaks with pride on her recent memoirs of having "Stuart blood" in her veins. When the Emperor William, himself one of the very best of men, spoke at the unveiling of the national monument, dedicated last summer to the soldiers of Germany, he said: "The Germans were led by their princes." At his coronation in Moscow last summer, the present czar of Russia, elated by the incense offered to him as a representative of heaven, renewed the idea of the superiority in personal attributes of royalty, and in all orders and newspapers influenced by this despotic caste France is invariably spoken of as "isolated" because she has dared to become a republic.

The strenuous manner in which the dissemination of liberal ideas is resisted by the German empire is illustrated by the German papers which dare not even copy, without extensive expurgation, the remarks of American journals on the Lasker matter. For example, the Frankfurter Zeitung of February 23 attempts to copy a passage from an editorial of the New York Tribune, but closes with a dash, explaining in parenthesis that the blank, if filled out, would involve arrest and imprisonment of the editor for two months. The sentence thus cut out was this: "The best answer to the chancellor's curt message is silence; this is at once dignified and contemptuous." In like manner quotations from other New York journals are broken by dashes, accompanied by parenthetical comments such as: "three months;" "here is a matter of years;" "one month."

INTERESTING STATISTICS.

A recent compilation of statistics sets forth in a very striking manner the relations between the development of agriculture and the railroads of our country. Taking the reports of the past census for agriculture and reckoning the past year's building of railroads at the previous average cost per mile, it appears that the total value of farms in the United States, together with the stock, implements and machinery upon them, is $12,104,081,440; and the total amount invested in railroads is $7,170,000,000. That is, $600 have been used in building railroads for every $1000 value of farms, fixtures and live stock reported in last census and the chief business of the railroads is carrying farm products. Of the $770,000,000 earned by railroads for 1882, the latest reports made up, $202,000,000 came from passengers, $506,000,000 direct from freight carried, and of the remaining $62,000,000 from miscellaneous sources, a large share was for freight carried by express companies. During the year the railroads carried 360,490,375 tons or 720,980,750,000 pounds, equal to an average of 14,414 pounds or over seven tons for each of fifty million men, women and children. This was all carried an average of 108¾ miles, equal to carrying a ton nearly forty billions of miles (39,302,209,249 miles) or nearly sixteen hundred thousand times around the world or over two hundred times to the sun and back. And the average charge for the whole country was only one cent and two mills per mile for carrying a ton of freight—in the middle states only one cent per ton per mile.

The growth of American manufactures during the last thirty years has been without a parallel in any other country. Thus the value of these manufactures in 1850 was $1,060,000,000; in 1860, $1,970,000,000; in 1870, $4,230,000,000; in 1880, $5,560,000,000. In 1860 the value of manufactures per inhabitant was $61 75; in 1880, $110. In 1850 the number of persons employed in manufactures of all kinds was 957,000; in 1860, 1,311,000; in 1870, 2,054,000; in 1880, 2,729,000. In 1850 the wages paid were $245,000,000; in 1860, $400,000,000; in 1870, $805,000,000; in 1880, $990,000,000. In 1850 the capital invested in manufactures was $550,000,000; in 1860, $1,040,000,000; in 1870, $2,205,000,000; in 1880, $2,405,000,000. These statistics are taken from the census reports, and are approximately correct. At the present time the United States turns out more manufactured goods than any other nation in the world—the total in 1880, as above given, being $5,560,000,000, while those of Great Britain were valued at $4,091,500,000 in 1882. By the same authority the total industries of the United States in 1850 were worth $11,405,000,000; those of Great Britain, $9,200,000,000; those of France, $8,840,000,000; those of Germany, $6,650,000,000, and those of Russia, $4,650,000,000.

There is an unwritten rule of congress, or a precedent, that the heirs of a member of congress who die during his term are entitled to his pay and emoluments for the remainder of it. Under this precedent the house has just passed a bill to pay Mary E. Herndon, widow of the late T. H. Herndon, the amount of salary and allowance for stationery for the unexpired term of his service as a member of the Forty-eighth congress, $8 375. To pay the mother of the late W. F. Pool, for the same, $7,737 06. To pay the widow of the late E. W. M. Mackey, for the same, $5,586 67. To pay the widow of the late D. C. Haskell, for the same, $6,719 97. To pay the widow of the late M. E. Cutts, for the same, $7,652 98. This is one of those "courtesies" of congress which have no other foundation than that feeling of grandeur which members seem to enjoy; that because they are in contact with a plethoric treasury therefore they must forget the men who contribute out of their labor to its supply, and vote whatever sums of money, according to their imagination or their fancy, they may consider would be a becoming reward to men of high judicial station.

Eastern stock journals, noting the fact that the cattle diseases now causing excitement in certain portions of this country were brought here from England, demand that the importation of foreign live stock be at once stopped, as a matter of common prudence and as a measure of protection to the cattle interests of this country. The suggestion is wise and timely. If reports be true, not only should the importation of stock, but of foreign herders, be stopped. It is alleged that the "foot and mouth disease" was communicated to the herds in Kansas by newly arrived herders from Scotland.

After all it seems that General Grant never will forgive Mr. Blaine for having interfered with his third term ambition in 1880. In a recent conversation he denied a report that he and Blaine had been invited to a dinner together, remarking: "I would not go to a dinner where I would be expected to see Mr. Blaine."

The Maryland legislature has, on second thoughts, after a protracted struggle, passed a bill reducing the fee for a marriage license from the old exorbitant and, for the very poor, prohibitory figures of $4.50 to the reasonable sum of 50 cents.

THE ABUSE OF THE BALLOT.

General Henry W. Slocum, a distinguished democrat, a member of congress from Brooklyn, and sometimes mentioned as the candidate of his party for president, recently said: "You will find that not more than one in ten of the voters own any property or pay any taxes. They have no interest in economical measures. I made the calculation on the proportion of voters and tax payers in Brooklyn, and found them nine to one. How can you expect men who don't pay a cent toward supporting the government to care to have economical business men put in?"

This statement is perhaps true, but the inference is not necessarily correct. It does not follow that men who pay no taxes and own no property have no interest in good government, though their conduct is often such as to justify that conclusion. It is this class, the irresponsible class of voters, as they are called, who are most inclined to support the men and measures that are most oppressive to themselves. They furnish the power by which political jobbers and municipal rings are able to oppress the poor, among whom the taxes, however they may be levied, are distributed. It is a singular fact that the men to whom the ballot is of the highest value, both as a weapon of offense and defense, are the ones who value it the least. Poor men who need it for their protection or as means for securing the full enjoyment of their communities as citizens are the men who sell their votes to rich men, to corporations or to parties. At the last presidential election, according to the Philadelphia Times, the republican committee of that city had to raise $25,000 to pay the poll taxes for fifty thousand voters and the democratic committee $15,000 for thirty thousand voters. Here were eighty thousand voters in one city who did not value an independent vote as high as fifty cents, the amount of their annual poll tax. The followers of Butler in Massachusetts are largely of this class. It is quite common to speak of them as people who have nothing to lose, but this is not a true classification. They are rather the ones who have most to lose by bad government. They subject themselves to that reproach by the cheap and contemptuous manner in which they treat the elective franchise, by selling it to men who convert it into political power or sources of pecuniary gain for themselves. The use which poor people are so much inclined to make of the ballot may be the result in part, at least, of such false views of their relations to the government as General Slocum's remark implies. The men with whom they come into the closest political contact, the saloon-keepers or demagogues of a more respectable order, leaders like Butler, have treated them as if they were naturally opposed to established order and to established institutions, and therefore had nothing to lose by revolutionary methods. If they do not pay taxes directly they pay them indirectly in the increase of rents and the cost of the necessaries of life, and therefore they are interested in having economical business men administer the government. If they had more intelligence they would not so often cheat themselves by selling their votes; especially would they not barter away their birthright for a mess of such pottage as they get at the saloons.

Running over Carlyle's "Letters and Speeches of Oliver Cromwell," we find the following passage in a letter written by the lord protector to the Scotch ministers, which tends to show forth the strong vein of good sense that lay beneath the hard and fanatical nature of the old Puritan: "Your pretended fear lest error should step in is like the man that would keep all the wine out of the country lest men should be drunk. It will be found an unjust and unwise jealousy to deny a man the liberty he hath by nature upon a supposition that he may abuse it; when he doth abuse it, judge." Cromwell would have been a strong high license man, but would have punished drunkenness with severity.

The democratic legislative caucus in Ohio has agreed to pass a graded liquor tax bill, the tax ranging from $75 to $500 per annum. Such a law, it is very well known, is not in accord with the Ohio constitution, and the democrats, when they pass it, well know they are making liquor free again and depriving the state of the $2,000,000 in revenue now derived from the Scott law. But the mortgage they had given to the liquor men was due and had to be met.

The New York Herald advocates the increase of the salaries of the federal judges on the ground that, all things considered, there are no judges in the United States harder worked and more poorly paid than those of the circuit and district courts. It says: "The greatest objection to the salary favored by the majority of the house judiciary committee is that the increase is not nearly large enough."

The Virginia Mahoneites, according to their leading organ, the Richmond Whig, propose to drop their title of "readjuster" and their form of independent organization and act hereafter with the republicans. "We want to ally ourselves," says the Whig, "with that great national party that favors the protection of Virginia's mineral, mechanical and industrial interests."

IN REPLY TO "BAY STATE."

PORTLAND, March 28.

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

A month or two ago, when it was reported that a woman was a candidate for an office in Washington territory, several papers were profuse in denouncing her. Now these same papers are loud in their praise of a Massachusetts woman who holds an office. If mentioning one woman for office makes her a "common pothouse politician," how is it that accepting office makes another one a "most estimable lady?"

Permit me also to refer to the attempt of one of your correspondents, "Bay State," to arouse the prejudices of people on the woman suffrage question. In a recent communication he went out of his way to cast a slur at the women of Massachusetts who favor equal suffrage, intimating that they are "clamorous females" of no standing. Before me is a letter written by Henry B. Blackwell of Boston who says that "eminent women are found on the suffrage petitions—Miss Alice E. Freeman, president of Wellesley college; Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, the philanthropist; Julia Ward Howe, Louisa M. Alcott, Harriet Prescott Spofford, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Anna Whitney, Mrs. A. M. Diaz, Mrs. Horace Mann, Elizabeth P. Peabody and Lucy Larcom; women of society, like Mrs. Sarah Shaw Russell and Mrs. Fenno Tudor; of reform, like Mary A. Livermore; of charity, like Mrs. James T. Fields; of the churches, like Mrs. A. J. Gordon; of the anti slavery conflict, like Abby Kelly Foster, Ednah D. Cheney, Abby W. May and Lucy Stone." It must be known by "Bay State" that better or nobler women do not live.

It may also be not out of place to mention some of the names of men on the petitions before the legislature now in session. Among them are ministers of almost every denomination—James Freeman Clarke, Phillips Brooks, Joseph Cook, William R. Wright, Charles F. Thwing, Bradford K. Pierce, D. D., of Zion's Herald, S. J. Barrows of the Christian Register, O. P. Gifford, D. P. Livermore, and lawyers like William I. Bowditch, Samuel E. Sewall, Judge Pitman, Judge Abbott and John E. Fitzgerald; business men like Henry Shaw Russell, Oliver Ames, William Lloyd Garrison, Jr., E. S. Converse, Arthur Frost and John L. Whiting; political men of every shade of opinion, ex-Governors Claflin, Washburn, Talbot, Banks and Butler, Senator George F. Hoar, Congressman John D. Long, ex Collectors Russell and Beard, Collector Worthington and Attorney General Sherman, Hon. W. W. Crapo and Speaker Marden; scholars like Samuel Eliot and President Warren of Boston university, Wendell Phillips and John G. Whittier."

"Bay State" was gratified that there were "46 remonstrants" from Springfield. Against the 46, and also 400 from Boston, stand 21,604 petitioners—said to be the largest number of persons who ever asked for extension of the franchise. It is singular how prejudice warps a person's mind. The handful of remonstrants were "a large number," while the thousands of petitioners were "few but clamorous."

It is time for the gentleman from Massachusetts to learn that the men and women in the woman suffrage reform are earnest, conscientious and reputable, and though he may not agree with them or comprehend their work, he displays a deplorable lack of "Bay State" culture when he throws insinuations at them.

CLACKAMAS.

Some of Blaine's Strong Points.

St. Louis Globe Democrat.

The Blaine literary bureau has resurrected and started again on its travels a letter written by Blaine eight years ago defining his religious belief. We have carefully studied the document, and have come to the following conclusions: (1) That Mr. Blaine's paternal ancestors were Presbyterians. (2) That Mr. Blaine's maternal ancestors were Catholics. (3) That Mr. Blaine's aunts were Methodists. (4) That Mr. Blaine's uncles were Baptists. (5) That Mr. Blaine was born an Episcopalian. (6) That Mr. Blaine was baptized a Unitarian. (7) That Mr. Blaine was raised a Lutheran. (8) That Mr. Blaine is opposed to the introduction of religious tests into political discussions.

"More than all other Lung Remedies," is what E. W. Fairman, a druggist at Dayton, Ind. writes about the sale of Allen's Lung Balsam. He has sold it for eight years, and it gives satisfaction in all cases.

A MARCH ON KEELY.

The Secret of his Motor Stolen—A Young Philadelphian Said to Have Made Practical Use of the Purloined Principles.

Philadelphia Times, March 16.

While Mr. Keely has been trying the patience of his stockholders and keeping the world in suspense over his tumble-full-of-water machine, a young man of this city, named James Rodney Barlow, has stolen his thunder and snatched fame from his very workshop. For some time past Barlow, whose mind was given more to queer mechanical devices than to practical things, has taken the most absorbing interest in Keely's alleged inventions, reading every thing about it on which he could lay his hands and drinking in with his ears every word he heard spoken on the subject. With the intense enthusiasm common to inventors he believed everything said in its favor and rejected every statement made in skepticism. In some unknown way he gained access to Keely's famous little workshop and saw, himself unseen, the great man manipulating his motor. Having detected the inventor's secret and discovered, as he thought, its weak points, he determined to build a motor himself after Keely's model, with his own improvements, and he set about it with all the fervor usual in such cases. A friend in Pennsylvania to whom he confided his purpose furnished the money, and having secured the services of a machinist, who also had the inventor's craze, they jointly rigged up, after a few months' labor, a machine that was to cover them with glory and revolutionize the motive power of the world.

To carry out his scheme it was necessary to get the co-operation and assistance of some employe on the West Jersey road, and it would be better if one could be found who had sometimes himself taken a hand at inventing. Certain inquiries were made and the very man for the business was found in George Farnsby, who, when the plan was unfolded to him, entered into it with enthusiasm. Through him a small building near the track, and about half a mile out of Camden, was secured, in which a "borrowed" handcar and the new motor were placed and the work of adjusting the parts of the motor and attaching them to the handcar was undertaken at once and speedily completed. The trial was made last night. The reporter reached the little building about 9 o'clock, where he found his friend Barlow and the machinist making the final preparations for the test and he then saw the new motor for the first time. It consisted of two cylindrical steel vessels, five inches in diameter by eighteen inches long, placed longitudinally about an inch apart. Above them also placed longitudinally, but at right angles to the two others and connected to them by steel necks or ways, was a third cylindrical vessel, three inches in diameter by nine inches long. From the head of each of the lower cylinders a steel tube half an inch in diameter projected, and the two tubes were carried to meet each other four inches above. At their junction was a small hand lever. By the side of the motor was a vertical cylinder fitted with a rod and plunger, air nut, I fancied metal and to this was attached a small rotary crank. A steel tube, one-fourth of an inch in diameter, connected the upper cylinder of the motor with the vertical cylinder by its side.

About 10 o'clock everything was ready and the car, with the motor on its platform, was removed from the building and placed upon the track. Barlow, his machinist, the railroad employe, the inventor's friend and the reporter, formed the experimenting party. Barlow, usually cool and phlegmatic, was nervous and excited. His face looked pale in the light of the lantern that stood upon the car, but his every word and movement showed his eagerness for the test. The members of the party having arranged themselves upon the car under his direction, Barlow took his place by the side of his motor. As he put his hand upon the lever over the cylinder there was a moment of dead silence, and each man held his breath in suspense. Was this midnight experiment, conducted by stealth, so to speak, to give the world a new motive power and bring renown and riches to a hitherto unknown young enthusiast? Was the much talked-of and long delayed Keely motor to be shorn of its alleged glory by so humble and speedily matured a rival? These were the questions formed in the reporter's mind as he watched Barlow's sinewy fingers—on which, by the way, two diamonds glistened—nervously grasp the lever of his device. There was only a minute's delay—the lever was pressed down, tentatively at first, and a loud cheer burst from the excited party as the car responded and moved slowly down the track. It was a supreme moment for Barlow, but he bore it well and gradually pressed the lever more and more as the car went bowling away with a steady motion that sent a glow of victory over his face. There was too much excitement among the men for talk, but each one jerked out a word of congratulation and urged Barlow to "let her out." The inventor, however, kept his head, and after a swift run to within sight of the lights of Gloucester he stopped the car, reversed the action, and started on the return. He explained that the motor was of limited capacity, and had been built for experiment only, but that force enough remained to make a show of speed back to Camden. He then pressed the lever hard down, the car whizzed away like the wind, and the little building was reached in three minutes—a speed of about seventy-five miles an hour. Mr. Barlow is very modest, and would prefer that nothing be said about his motor until he has built one capable of real work. This he will do at once, and when it is complete a public test of its power will be made.

NOTES FROM WASHINGTON CITY.

[Special Correspondence of The Oregonian.]

WASHINGTON, March 18.

The present congress has made a memorable record for dilatoriness in legislation, and it must be confessed that the prospect for improvement is not bright. There is now pending much legislation of direct interest to Oregon, which is in the incipient stages, a good deal of which has already favorably run the gauntlet of committee examination. The bill for a public building at Portland is still pending. It has one good feature, and that is that it authorizes the construction of one that will be creditable to the city and commensurate with the needs of the governmental service. The bill authorizes a suitable building, with fire-proof vaults, for the accommodation of the custom house, at a cost, for site and building, not to exceed $500,000. It is also provided that the site shall leave the building unexposed to danger from fire in adjacent buildings by an open space of not less than forty feet, including streets and alleys. It also provides that a valid title shall be vested in the United States.

Another important bill is that to allow the cities of Portland and Astoria to levy and collect tonnage taxes for the improvement of certain rivers and harbors. It provides that for the purpose of the improvement of the entrance of the Columbia and the river channels at and below the city of Portland, it shall be lawful for the proper authorities of the city to provide for the laying and collecting of a tonnage tax upon all vessels entering the port from any foreign port or place. Of the sum so raised, one-half at least shall be used in the improvement of the entrance of the mouth of the Columbia river, and it shall be lawful for the city of Astoria to collect a tonnage tax on all vessels which enter said port from any foreign place which do not enter and pay at Portland. This bill is before the commerce committee for report, but there is a strong disposition to refuse applications for the imposition of tonnage dues.

Then, again, there is the bill to authorize the Oregon Pacific Railroad company to construct one or more bridges across the Willamette river, and to establish them as post roads. This measure has been submitted to the secretary of war and chief of engineers to determine the advisability of passing such a bill. The secretary says that "inasmuch as the bill contains all necessary provisions for the protection of the interests of commerce and navigation by making the plans, specifications and locations of the proposed bridges subject to the approval of the secretary of war, there appears to be no objection to its passage in its present form." The bill has in consequence received the endorsement of the commerce committee. It provides that the company may build one or more bridges over the Willamette, at such points, not exceeding two, between Salem and the head of navigation. Any bridge built under this act may, at the option of the company, be built as a drawbridge or with unbroken or continuous spans. If with continuous spans, they shall not be less than two hundred feet in the clear, and at such a height above high water mark as the secretary of war may prescribe. If built as a draw bridge, it shall be constructed with an opening over the center of the channel of at least one hundred feet in the clear.

There are also many applications for appropriations in behalf of Oregon and Washington territory. These, however, have a better chance for consideration, as the appropriation committees are always "entitled to the floor." One is a proposition to appropriate $75,000 to construct a wagon road across the Snoqualmie pass of the Cascade mountains, in Washington territory.

It is also desired to establish two new light houses on the coast of Washington territory. The first asks an appropriation of $85,000, for a first class lighthouse and fog signal on Destruction island, and the second asks for $15,000 for a lighthouse at the entrance of Gray's harbor. Both of these propositions must receive the approval of the commerce committee before the money can be asked of congress.

The public lands committee have a bill to restore to the public domain all the lands now withheld between the ten-mile limits and the three-mile limits referred to in an act granting lands to the state of Oregon to aid in the construction of a military wagon road from Dalles City to Fort Boise, on the Snake river, approved in 1867.

Among the private measures before the committee on claims is that of owing $15,000 to the contractors for services in the removal of obstructions to the navigation of the Skagit river.

Another directs the secretary of war to examine into and ascertain the loss sustained by Thomas J. Miller by the seizure and sinking of his ferry boat on the Columbia river, by the armed forces of the United States, for the purpose of preventing the same being used by hostile Indians during the Bannack war.

The Red Sunsets.

In the Atlantic for April Prof. N. S. Shaler contributes a very interesting article on "The Red Sunsets." He attempts to show that the strange afterglows that we have been witnessing for past months, are to be attributed to the effects of the Krakatoa eruption. It is his opinion that the brilliant colors of the sunsets were due to the volcanic clouds, between nine and ten miles high, one third as high again as the lightest ordinary clouds, and composed probably of a mixture of dust and watery vapor. The climatic influence of these dust clouds is hinted at in the following:

The fact that these particles of vapor and dust send us back the sunlight is proof that they cut off a share of the sun's rays from their proper access to the earth's surface. For months the earth has been wrapped in a veil that denies admission to a small part of the sun's light, and presumably to a portion of its heat as well. Upon this heat all the machinery of the earth's physical and organic life most intimately depends. Take the hundredth part of it away and all the life of earth would feel its loss of power. The air currents would become feebler, the ocean currents less strong; thousands of animals and plants would find their conditions changed so that the boundaries of the provinces they occupy would be altered, or life itself abandoned after a few years of struggle. The first command which life would put upon the physical forces of the earth, if it were happily in its power to command, would be to "get out of my sunshine."

Corvallis Gazette: We were shown a specimen of the Yaquina coal last Saturday, and also saw it examined by an experienced coal miner, who pronounced it of the very best quality. It is claimed that the supply is abundant, and, no doubt, the coal interests of Yaquina bay will prove to be a profitable industry.

The directors of the Washington county agricultural society, namely, T. D. Humphreys, James Sewell, J. C. Stewart, E. Wehrung and T. Withycombe, met last Friday to make arrangements for a fair to be held next fall, beginning September 24 and continuing four days. A resolution was adopted prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors on the grounds or in the building of any gambling games. The programme provides for a contest of speed for horses, in which horses outside of the county may enter; also for the display of grains outside counties are allowed to compete for premiums.

The condition of J. R. Ward, at Seattle, who had his right ankle crushed on the 12th of this month, is much improved. He is cheerful and perfectly confident that he will save his foot. His general health is excellent, but of course his ankle is much swollen and requires the greatest care of his physicians.

Thursday a dispatch was received by Mayor Sprague of Tacoma, from Puyallup, saying there was a case of sickness in that place believed to be smallpox, and asking for the attendance of a physician. One at once started on horseback for Puyallup, and found the patient, a man, to be suffering from measles. Quite a little scare stirred the town when the first report was received.

A Slow Death.

New York Times.

The democratic leaders in congress, if there be any, are extravagant devotees of the old maxim which advises to "make haste slowly." Their haste is, in fact, so moderate that they not only appear to stand still, but are in great danger of falling back. We do not refer to the progress of general legislative business for there has been practically no such business done, but to the one question on which the country was led to believe that the democrats really had convictions and a policy, the question of the tariff. By the announcement made on Saturday evening by Mr. Herbert of the ways and means committee, it is now evident that when the Morrison bill gets out of the committee there will hardly be enough left of it to quarrel over.

Advertisements such as "Wants," "Help Wanted," "To Let," "For Sale," etc., will be inserted for ten cents per line first insertion, five cents per line thereafter. No insertion for less than 25 cents, and each must be paid at the counter.

THE TURN HALLE FIRE.—When THE OREGONIAN reporter left the fire in Turn Halle yesterday morning in order to get his account into the paper before it should go to press, it certainly looked as though the building would be almost ruined before the flames could be extinguished. But thanks to the fire department's energetic and effective work the greater part of the damage was confined to Beary's establishment in the first story. The hall above was but little damaged. Only in one or two places did the flames break through, this slightly scorching the southwest corner of the interior where the ladies' cloak room was located. The cause of the fire is not definitely known. Mr Beary and Professor Varney walked down Morrison street about 12 o'clock, the former leaving a lamp dimly burning, which he thinks must have exploded. Mr Beary went home and Professor Varney returned and went to bed. Beary knew nothing of the fire until he came down at his usual time in the morning. Professor Varney was very much pleased to find after the flames had subsided that his cherished violin as well as his other instruments and his library of sheet music had escaped unharmed. The piano in the hall and the stage and scenery were also untouched by the flames. The insurance on the building, hall and contents was $8,000 and the entire damage will not exceed $1500. Beary's loss is a total one and is estimated at $3000; insurance [illegible] in the Hamburg Magdeburg and [illegible] He had some [illegible] books [illegible] in the safe which were all [illegible] George Chausse, an extra man of No 3, had his hand very painfully burned during the progress of the fire.

BREACH OF PROMISE.—In the state circuit court yesterday a jury was engaged in hearing testimony in the case of Miss Jennie Clarno against William Doran, in which the plaintiff asks $10,000 damages for an alleged breach of promise of marriage. Viewed from a legal as well as a popular standpoint, the case is a very important one. The plaintiff's attorneys are none other than the well known firm of Williams, Hill, Durham & Thompson and W. B. Chambers, while the defendant is represented by Richard Williams, E. B. Strong and James Gleason. There were about fifty or sixty spectators, including a dozen or more women, who were understood to be witnesses in the interest of the plaintiff. The following named persons constitute the jury: G. L. Du Bois, Henry A. Bruce, J. B. Wilkinson, H. M. McBride, J. W. Wilson, Isaac Barnes, L. Snover, P. M. Connell, J. H. Hall, A. S. Ramsey, J. B. Carter and C. E. McBreen. The entire afternoon was occupied with Miss Clarno upon the stand, a rigid cross examination not seeming to disturb her in the least. Several letters written by her to the defendant were read in open court. They were written in a style not intended for public criticism but seemed to be none the less entertaining on that account. The plaintiff's cross examination was still pending when court adjourned for the day.

COASTING STEAMER.—The Astoria Coast Transportation Company, John Hume Jr president, and [illegible] Noyes secretary are about to construct a steamer 130 feet in length, 26 feet beam and 7 feet depth of hold for the coasting trade. The Willamette Iron works have received an order for a compound engine and steel boilers for her. The high pressure cylinder is to be 14 inches bore and 26 inches stroke and the low pressure cylinder 30 inches bore and 26 inches stroke, which will give about 325 horse power. The boat is expected to be ready for service about the middle of July. It is to be hoped that she may prove a good paying investment and the company should receive every encouragement in their endeavor to build up the coasting trade of this state.

WILL FISH FOR SHRIMPS.—Mr John Exon, having read the item published a few days ago in THE OREGONIAN in regard to the scarcity of shrimps in this market and the consequent high price at which they are sold and the hint given to the New Deep Sea Fishing Co to consider the matter of increasing their facilities for catching them, has sent on to his brother in England instructing him to bring all the necessary nets and appliances for shrimp fishing with him when he comes to take charge of the new company.

BAND OF HOPE MEETING.—A special meeting of the Portland Band of Hope No 1 will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the W. C. T. U. hall on Washington street between Front and First. All children are invited, and members are earnestly requested to be present.

The regular crowd are going down to Sauvie's Island to-morrow for a farewell whack at the canvas backs. It is probable the ducks will consider this an invitation to leave for the Arctic regions and if the boys go down again it may be safely said that they have gone to shoot the mallards on their nests.

PERSONAL.

Rev. O. Parker of Baker City is registered at the Esmond.

H. Thielsen was much better yesterday, and is now considered quite out of danger.

Hon. O. W. Babcock of Lawrence, Kas., is stopping at the Esmond. He is one of the old guard of his adopted state.

James O'Shea and his sisters, Alice and Maggie, returned from a visit to California by the last steamer. Jim says the weather was delightful and California is a fine country and they had a very pleasant time there, but Portland suits him better than any place he saw. He has lost a little flesh but comes up smiling as usual.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE MINSTRELS.—Last night New Market theater was again packed. The third new bill was a very pleasing change throughout. There is evident improvement in the quartette, taken as individuals or as a quartette, and their selections came in for generous applause. Sarony's laughable absurdity "A Woman of Few Words," with the author in the title role as an after piece, closed the entertainment amid uproarious laughter. Usual matinee this afternoon and the same programme to-night. To-morrow night a complimentary benefit to Charley Reed will be tendered at New Market.

CURE FOR "STAGGERS."

CRESWELL, March 27.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In reply to an inquiry made through the columns of THE OREGONIAN a few days since in regard to the horse disease prevalent in this valley at present and commonly called staggers, I have a few words to say. I will not try to give any explanation of the causes of the disease, but will give a remedy which will be found effective in most cases. Give horses salt three times a week, adding a tablespoonful of soda and one of sulphur. No horse treated in this manner is liable to staggers or any other disease.

Elegant Millinery.

Re-opening after the fire. Having received the [illegible] from the insurance companies, Mrs. W[illegible] [illegible] Washington, near First, was employed in enlarging and beautifying her millinery establishment and in the purchase of a large and entirely new stock of elegant millinery. An experience of twenty years in this line of business has enabled her to invest her money judiciously in the selection of rare and fashionable goods and to buy at greatly reduced prices for cash in hand, and she is willing to give her customers the benefit of this reduction, being content with a reasonable profit for herself. Every dollar's worth of goods is paid for and she can afford to sell at very reasonable prices and still make a fair profit. The store has been renovated and beautifully fitted and now extends through the entire length of the building. The handsome appearance of the establishment makes it the [illegible] of the northwest and will be thrown open for public inspection Tuesday, April 1st. The grand millinery exhibition and opening days will commence at the same time and continue two days. [illegible]

EAST SIDE.

MR. KRATZ EXPLAINS.

In reply to a complaint in yesterday's issue to the effect that one Arthur Krug and two others upon calling at the East Portland Brewery had a hose turned on them without cause or provocation, Mr. Lambert Kratz, proprietor of the brewery, states that the charge is entirely untrue. The men entered the brewery and after obtaining some yeast, requested to be supplied with beer, but as Mr Kratz has no retail license, this was refused them. They however persisted in their demands and becoming insulting to the party in charge he ordered them to leave, which they refused to do and he found it necessary after they refused to heed a fair warning to take the means stated to compel their departure.

NOTES.

The Holladay avenue injunction case drags its weary length along.

The Athletic club met for practice last evening. Their performances show it is possessed of good material.

A son of Mr Preston Severance of McMillen's addition cut his instep badly with an ax yesterday while splitting wood.

The young folks of Mount Tabor and vicinity enjoyed themselves at a ball at Multnomah independence hall last evening, several also attending from East Portland.

All republicans of Grant precinct are invited to be present at the meeting which occurs at Shu[illegible]'s hall this evening for the purpose of organizing for the coming campaign. Good speakers will be present to address the meeting.

The graveling of I street full width, from Fifth to Twelfth, being that part of the improvement of said street which was postponed till after the winter season, was commenced yesterday by the contractors Messrs. Fratty & Keohan.

The East Portland hotel at the foot of I street was thrown open for the first time last evening. Being elevated some six feet above the roadway it has a commanding appearance, especially when brilliantly lighted as last evening. A number of invited friends of Mr Clare helped him celebrate the event by a social dance which occurred in the dining room, making the house ring with music and good cheer till a late hour.

What are They Going to do About It?

Boston Advertiser.

The Atlanta Constitution is a journal which has won deserved distinction among southern newspapers by what may be called the progressive conservatism of its tone in regard to national politics. It was among the first of the journals in its section to urge upon the southern people a prompt acquiescence in the results of the war and to inculcate a truly national spirit. When therefore the Constitution says of the Copiah county and the Danville outbreaks of the old spirit of barbarism and proscription: "Conceding all to be true that the Northern people charge, what are they going to do about it?" the change of tone is to say the least disturbing. Believing these crimes to have been local in their character and not typical of the state of things in general at the south, we have advised against a revival of the old sectional issues in the pending canvass. We adhere to the opinion that it would be unwise to subordinate important economic and administrative questions to the "outrage" business. If however the query of the Constitution reflects the general spirit of the democrats of the south—which we do not believe it does—the question as to what the majority of voters will do about it is easily answered by saying that they will put down and keep down a party which can take such a ground concerning the denial of the dearest right of American citizens.

Grand Opening.

Tuesday and Wednesday, 1st and 2d of April, will be the opening days of the spring and summer styles of millinery goods at Miss A. S. Jorgensen's, No. 103 First street. It is but justice to say that the assortment is the best ever displayed in this city. All of the latest Parisian and Eastern designs selected by Miss Jorgensen herself, she having a number of years' experience and knowing the wants of her customers and market in general. There is no reason why she should not supply them all with just the styles they wish for. The ladies of Portland and vicinity should not miss opportunity to examine her stock and judge for themselves.

JAY GOULD'S INCOME.

No Less than $12,888 a Day or Just About $9 a Minute.

New York Morning Journal.

Jay Gould, the second richest man of the United States, is credited with being the possessor of wealth estimated all the way from $100,000,000 to $7[illegible],000,000. The former sum is very nearly correct. Were his railroad stocks at their par value he would be a hundred millionaire. Just after starting on his yacht trip to the [illegible] he carefully [illegible] his property placed his affairs in good shape and [illegible] his will.

In round numbers the permanent investment [illegible] Mr Gould's schedule were [illegible] shares of Western Union telegraph, 10,000 shares of Missouri Pacific, [illegible] shares of Wabash common and 10,000 shares of preferred, [illegible] shares of [illegible] and Texas [illegible] shares of Texas [illegible] and [illegible] shares of Erie. There were a large number of small lots of various stocks apparently only incidentally held.

Besides his railway shares Mr Gould holds five and a half millions of Wabash general bonds. At yesterday's prices the value of these securities is $40,495,[illegible] Western Union and Missouri Pacific pay dividends, the other stocks do not. The bonds also bear interest [illegible] between them they yield him $[illegible] a year. His interest in the Union Trust company and his loans are profitable to him. The [illegible] building, nominally owned by the Western Union company, was built with his money. In real estate, loans and mortgages he has $5,000,000 and $[illegible] more in floating investments. His two residences represent $[illegible] and his yacht $[illegible] His wealth as nearly as he can figure it is $[illegible] all and his income $4,[illegible] This [illegible] earns him $12,888 every day and $9 [illegible] each minute.

American Flour and Bees.

From the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Fred E. Harriott, the husband of Clara Morris, was for a number of years a flour merchant of New York city, and during that period he handled flour from the Minneapolis and other Minnesota mills. Mr Archibald, owner of the Dundas mills, was a visitor at the warerooms of Harriott Brothers, and had been permanently engaged in shipping the Minnesota flour produced from the soft wheats by the old process. Harriott Brothers were importers of Hungarian flour, and Mr Archibald there saw samples of this famous flour. He examined it critically and declared his ability to make it, went to Hungary and studied the process, changed his mill and commenced to grind the flour. At that time Harriott Bros had a large customer in Boston, an Italian, who [illegible] flour in the manufacture of macaroni. [illegible] and these were [illegible] 60 [illegible] for the barrel used in the shipment. When [illegible] Archibald flour under the new process began to arrive Mr Harriott was so well satisfied [illegible] that he sent the [illegible] first shipment after the [illegible] Minnesota flour billed as before. [illegible] The only [illegible] of the quality of the flour but [illegible] of Italy protested [illegible] against the bill for the barrels. Mr Harriott told him [illegible] to close the account [illegible] the indignation of the Italian [illegible] Mr Harriott turned to his bookkeeper and asked him to look up the account of Hungary vs America.

"You have not made objection to the quality of the flour I have sent you," he continued, addressing his customer. "Nearly one half of it, as you say, has been received in broken packages. The flour shipped in that way is nothing more than American flour made in a little mill up in Minnesota. If you can use half of it [illegible] can use all American flour. Well, look, Mr Bookkeeper, and see how the account stands. A balance of $6,000 did you say? Well, if you want to close the account, I'll [illegible] the broken package bill and you may stand the balance. [illegible] been using Minnesota flour at $8 [illegible] Trieste flour at $17." It was a revelation to the Italian, and he did not close the account. He [illegible] Archibald's flour to this day and is making just as good macaroni as he ever did.

"And speaking of how the Americans are becoming exporters instead of importers recalls an incident in my experience. Some time ago I found a [illegible] health [illegible] in Boston. He knew nothing about bees. I had a piece of land in San Diego county, California, which I offered to sell him and gave him some help to get [illegible] there with his family. He prospered in bee culture, and when we were in California the last time I went and saw him. We were about going to Europe then and he asked me to take over his American queen. He was confident that the American queen [illegible] than the Italian. I consented and he improvised a box for it by boring in a piece of wood [illegible] some honey [illegible] some wax and [illegible] of the flowers of southern California, and gave it to me. Two months later I was repacking our trunks in Boston when I came across my California box. I said to Miss Morris: 'Well, I guess the queen is dead. I had forgotten all about her.' A tap on the box however showed that the queen was alive, and when I arrived in Paris I presented her to the American [illegible] according to instruction, and he sent the bee as desired to the department of agriculture. Upon returning from Switzerland the [illegible] said that he had a letter of commendation for [illegible] to my California friend from the department of agriculture. The American's claim proved true. It was satisfactorily demonstrated to the department that while the Italian queens produced [illegible] 40 per cent of working bees the American queens produced [illegible] per cent. My California man is sending all the bees he can spare to France now in little packages by mail that cost him two cents to post, and is getting $5 apiece for every one of them."

TROUSERS FOR WOMEN.

Some Reasons Why the Gentler Sex Desire to Wear Bifurcated Garments.

Philadelphia Correspondence N. Y. Times.

A well dressed woman went into a fashionable Chestnut street clothing house recently and asked to be measured for a pair of trousers. After she had been served an attendant said to a reporter: "We make men's suits for ladies right along. I don't know what this particular lady wanted with men's clothing, for we never ask unless they choose to tell us. We make a good many full suits. This pair of trousers is for a very pretty little lady who looks so petite that you would never suppose to look at her [illegible] would require so large a size. She is having three suits made. One is a [illegible] round suit, with a single breasted sack, another is a full buttoned blue frock with fancy lining, and the other suit has knickerbocker breeches and is a very neat fit. We think nothing of it. We make all of Annie Dickinson's trousers."

"Really? What in the world does Miss Dickinson want with trousers?"

"I can't tell. Only she has them. Maybe they are for riding—maybe for indoor wear. We are in the habit of making all her trousers anyhow. Why women I like say that trousers are a great deal more comfortable, and those we make for them have always been very successful in fitting."

From other sources it was learned that while men's trousers are not likely to be adopted by any ladies in Philadelphia for out-of-door wear, there is a tendency on the part of some ladies of this city who are recognized as fashionable ladies to have their spring street costumes this year more comfortable and simple and in some respects resembling men's dress. A prominent firm of tailors are making a good many coats for ladies that are almost similar to coats made for men. A number of ladies have already appeared on the street with men's vests, showing shirt fronts and neckties.

The Daily Oregonian.

SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 29 1884.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

FRIDAY, March 28.

Showery weather has given way to clear skies and warm. Indications point to an early grain harvest, wheat in the valley counties on rolling ground being forward for the season. Trade to-day is active, the call showing increase. Canneries are calling for provisions and interior merchants are placing new orders. With the arrival of fresh assortments of stock and the filling of orders the street wears an active appearance. Overland and steamer freights are very full, the total rather exceeding that of last year at this time. Oregon fruits and vegetables per steamer moved freely this morning, importations being largely closed out by noon. The Alden Besse will discharge the first of next week.

Geo. W. Meade & Co., San Francisco, have issued a review of the California dried fruit, honey and nut crop for 1883. They place the production at 125,000 20 lb bxs raisins, 800,000 lbs sun dried apples, 500,000 lbs peaches, 75,000 lbs pears, 300,000 lbs apricots, 2,000 lbs nectarines, 60,000 lb figs, 310,000 lbs evaporated apples and apricots, 250,000 lbs French prunes, 150,000 lbs dried grapes, 100,000 lbs pitted plums, 125,000 comb, 850,000 lbs extracted honey, 700,000 lbs almonds, 500,000 lbs walnuts. A large surplus of raisins is being carried over as no market could be found other than the coast, imported being very cheap. Relative high prices for dried fruits caused the larger part of the curing to be marketed at home. Cheap prunes at the east prevented shipments from this coast, but the crop is sold well up. Honey has not been profitable because of general large products. Almonds went east in liberal quantities. Certain changed conditions in the handling and cost of production that will tend to cheapen some values will permit liberal shipments hereafter of California products.

It is regretted that Oregon cannot brag of her production the past year of dried fruits. The coming season promises well, and no doubt there will be a very considerable output. Honey is produced here only in limited quantities, and falls far short of supplying the home trade. Almonds can be grown to fair advantage in some parts of the state. The settling up of southern Oregon will develop a fruit region of large size and extended capabilities. Prunes can be grown here with profit. At the present time we are receiving from California almost all varieties of dried fruits, and eastern supplies are beginning to be received. Dried apples from Chicago cost about 9 cents laid down here. In the future there must be less waste of green fruit and cheapened cost of curing, if even the home trade is to be supplied, as other states are reducing the cost very much.

Overland receipts include 2 bbls 10 cs 4 kgs salt fish, 105 bxs soap, 10 tcs hams, 2 bbls 100 cs syrup, 40 pails candy, 10 sks peas, 12 cs lard, 8 cs butter, 10 pkgs tobacco, 2 cs cigarettes, 85 caks bottled beer, 250 kgs nails, 1500 cs 2 tank cars coal oil.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 24 hours: 2279 ctls wheat, 1512 bbls flour, 66 ctls oats, 107 ctls bran, 10 sks potatoes, 6650 lbs hides, 74 cs eggs, 7165 lbs hops, 50 bxs fruit, 24 pkgs butter, 200 bbls lime. Also 2991 ctls wheat, 877 bbls flour, 314 lbs wool, 5747 lbs hides, 1282 sks flaxseed from the eastern section.

FREIGHTS—San Francisco advices report a very weak market. Small iron for September and December have accepted 45s and 47s 6d. The evident feeling is that freights will rule low next season on this coast, yet new influences may arise, as they have in previous years, that will change rates. At present no one cares for spot vessels and few for future. With us there is nothing doing with the market showing a weakened tone.

WHEAT—Foreign markets quote a decline in several grades with offerings excessive. Confidence in the near future is apparently wanting, buyers being not in the least anxious. Chicago futures recovered a fraction, but are still weak. The local market is in small trading. Buyers are reducing their limits until $1 52½ is the top bid. Limits during the week exceeded this, but have now expired. An uncertain feeling prevails, as millers cannot readily place their grinding to advantage.

Other produce lines are in fair trading with change in values.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The Willamette is in the river with coal from Nanaimo.

The Alden Besse came up at noon, docking at Coloma wharf.

Bark Silliman B. Allen, of Boston has had name changed to White Cloud.

The Ger iron bark Werra, 922 tons, loads at Liverpool for this port in Meyer, Wilson & Co's line.

R. D. Hume has sold the steamer Pelican to the Del Norte Commercial Company for $13,000, also the schr Stranger to the same company for $7,500.

The French minister of marine has ordered droit and gauche to be substituted for babord and tribord, starboard and larboard, to prevent confusion.

No American merchant steamer — that is, one built and owned in the United States — has yet passed through the Suez canal. Could there be any better illustration than this of the condition of our ocean steam tonnage? The first American merchant steamer that will have the honor to pass through the Suez canal will be the San Pablo, which sailed from New York March 13th for Shanghae, with a cargo. Her flag will be regarded with curiosity along the canal. It is to be hoped that the American flag will be seen there oftener in the future. The San Pablo took a small lot of exhibits for the Corean exhibition, mostly agricultural implements.—Maritime Register.

An Imbecile Superstition.

Springfield Republican.

Another materializing medium has come to grief in Philadelphia, where the bewitching Katie King deluded Robert Dale Owen, and was found to be the widow White, and where the Bliss family were likewise exposed some seven years ago. The latest fraud is one Henry C. Gordon, who appeared as an Indian chief, the controlling spirit of the seances—a role generally filled by ghosts of the noble red man—and made up little ghosts on him according to the preference of the admiring believers. A reporter of the press, after several visits, became satisfied as to the secret of Gordon's performances, and one night last week together with a friend and a police officer, he went to Gordon's and pounced upon the professed spirit of one Miss Esther Hazard, who, when the lights were turned on, proved to be Gordon himself. The cabinet in which Gordon was supposed to be all the while the spirits were disporting themselves without was found well furnished with gowns, kerchiefs, coats, robes, hats for either sex, dusters, tidies, circulars, night-caps, kid gloves, slippers, a night-gown, a lady's wig, a white beard, and other useful raiment for spirits. But of what use is this exposure? Old Mr Hazard, of Rhode Island, according to the press report, was furious, not against Gordon, but against his exposer. "I tell you," he cried, "the spirits used this medium to represent my daughter. They changed his form and features, erasing his whole identity. Before this disgraceful scene, the features of the face were those of my flesh and blood, I will swear. After the seizure I saw the face gradually change until it became that of Gordon." When a man can take leave of his reason to that extent, what wonder that such impostors as Gordon and the rest of the mediums flourish? How absurd it sounds to call this the age of reason in the face of such imbecile superstition as this, knowing that they count their adherents by millions.

All Ripped Up.

Chicago News.

"The democrats are all ripped up again, because Mr. Carlisle went to the New York free trade banquet and made a speech. Sure enough, it is a little galling, when the party is trying to sneak along close to the fence and not let anybody see which side it is on, to have their biggest man run out into the middle of the road and yell 'whoop' at the top of his alas, too kind voice."

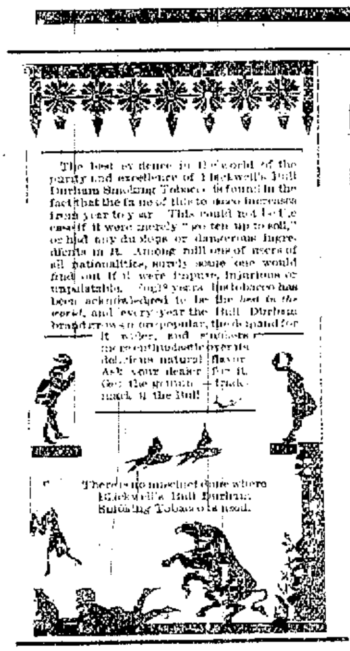
CENTAUR LINIMENT—an absolute cure for Rheumatism, Sprains, Burns, Galls, &c. The most Powerful and Penetrating Pain-relieving and Healing Remedy known to man.



The best evidence in the world of the purity and excellence of Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is found in the fact that the fame of this tobacco increases from year to year. This could not be the case if it were merely "gotten up to sell," or had any drugs or dangerous ingredients in it. Among millions of users of all nationalities, surely some one would find out if it were impure, injurious or unpalatable. For 16 years this tobacco has been acknowledged to be the best in the world, and every year the Bull Durham brand grows more popular, the demand for it wider, and smokers more enthusiastic over its delicious natural flavor. Ask your dealer for it. Get the genuine—trade mark, the Bull!

There is no mischief done where Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is used.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

IS THE MOST SUCCESSFUL PHYSICIAN ON the Pacific coast in the treatment of all Chronic and Difficult Diseases of the Sexual Organs. He will guarantee to cure any form of disease of the generative organs, or private disease, if the patient follows his advice and treatment. He has had many years' experience in the treatment of diseases, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the FOLLIES OF YOUTH, such as Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, or Loss of Perfect Vitality. Nearly two-thirds of all the human disease spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by a majority of the Medical Profession. Persons afflicted by any form of sexual disease or weakness often delay in calling upon the proper physician in time from a sense of modesty, and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitution becomes corrupted, their organization broken down, and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death begins to welcome the sufferer to carry them out of their misery. Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances. Lost manhood perfectly restored. Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail, if they are curable, and if not, he will not take them. Consultation Free, or a list of printed questions sent to any one living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list. Office, No. 127 Third street, corner of Alder, over the Masonic Hall. Office Hours, from 10 A. M. to 12 M., 2 to 5 and 7 to 8 P. M. All letters or communications should be addressed to Dr. P. M. DR. CHEEVER'S ELECTRIC BELT

MEN ONLY.

DR. CHEEVER'S ELECTRIC BELT, or Regenerator, is made expressly for the cure of derangement of the generative organs. Whenever any debility of the generative organs occurs from whatever cause, the continuous stream of ELECTRICITY permeating through the parts must restore them to healthy action. There is no mistake about this instrument. Years of use have tested it, and thousands of cures are testified to. Weakness from Indiscretions, Incapacity, Lack of Vigor, Sterility—in fact any trouble of these organs is cured. Do not confound this with electric belts advertised to cure all ills from head to toe. This is for the ONE specific purpose. For circulars giving full information address CHEEVER ELECTRIC BELT CO., 103 Washington St., Chicago, Ill.

CANCER.

The experience in the treatment of Cancer with Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) would seem to warrant us in saying that it will cure this hitherto dreaded scourge. Persons so afflicted are invited to correspond with us.

I believe Swift's Specific has saved my life. I had virtually lost use of the upper part of my body and my arms from the poisonous effects of a large cancer on my neck, from which I had suffered for 20 years. S. S. S. has relieved me of all soreness, and the poison is being forced out of my system. I will soon be well. W. R. ROBISON, Davisboro, Ga.

Two months ago my attention was called to the case of a woman afflicted with a cancer on her shoulder, at least 5 inches in circumference, angry, painful and giving the patient no rest day or night for 6 months. I obtained a supply of Swift's Specific for her. She has taken 6 bottles, and the ulcer is entirely healed over, a very small scab remaining, and her health is better than for 5 years past. Seems to be perfectly cured. REV. JESSE H. CAMPBELL, Columbus, Ga.

I have seen remarkable results from use of Swift's Specific on cancer. A young man near here has been afflicted 3 years with the most angry looking eating cancer I ever saw, and was nearly dead. The first bottle made a wonderful change, and after 5 bottles were taken, he is nearly or quite well. It is truly wonderful. M. F. CRUMLEY, M. D., Oglethorpe, Ga.
